THE SICK HEADACHE.
THIS DISEASE is one from which arises more misery to the human family than is generally supposed; not being directly fatal, it is often neglected, or persons resort so much to the use of purgatives and other medicines as to impair their general health, and often induce fatal diseases. The article—Dr. Spohn's HEADACHE REMEDY, now offered seems to have overcome these difficulties. While its effects are most powerful and immediate in curing an attack or keeping it off, it is so perfectly mild and innocent as to be used for infants with the greatest effect and safety. This has now been tested by so many of the highest members of this community as to require no further proof.

For sale by G. W. LADD, A. P. GUILD, and A. YOUNG, Jr. & Co. formerly Holden's.

CLEANLINESS OF THE HEAD AND HAIR.
STRANGE it is that persons who attend strictly to personal cleanliness, baths, &c., should neglect the head—the hair—the most essential—the most exposed—and the most beautiful, when properly cared for, of all the gifts of the Creator. Perpetual itching may be kept of dandruff or scurf, with certainty that the hair cannot fall out, by the use of the BALM OF COLUMBIA. Ladies will you make your toilet without this article? I answer decidedly no, if you have once tried and experienced its purifying effects—sweet perfume.

PATENT MILL WHEELS.
THE Subscriber having for a long time given his attention to the construction and operation of Water Wheels, has finally succeeded in the invention of two kinds of Wheels for which he has received Letters Patent from the Government of the United States.

These Wheels are simple in their construction, cheap and durable, are easily put in operation, and are not liable like most other wheels to get out of order, they are not obstructed by back water, when the head is not diminished thereby; and the same quantity of water usually applied to wheels in general use.

A great number of these Wheels are now in operation and give in all cases entire satisfaction; and further information respecting them the following gentlemen are referred to, all of whom have used a great number of wheels in operation. Jacob Drum, James B. Fiske, Amos Davis and Leonard and Susan, S. P. & H. Strickland, W. T. & H. Pierce & Co. Bangor; Hon. J. S. Little, Portland; Robert Treat, Geo. A. Pierce, Esquires, Bangor; Daniel Dennett, Esq. Milo; Col. Henry M. Milson, Messrs. Puke & Bridge, Milford, Ira Black and John M. Hale, Esq. Ellsworth; Messrs. A. Campbell & Co. Cherryfield; Daniel Thurmond, Esq. Machias; Levi L. Lowell, Calais.

The above wheels are manufactured and for sale by the Iron Foundries of Messrs. HINCKLEY & ROBERT and FRANKLIN MUZZY & Co. in this city, who are furnished with a great variety of patterns so that Wheels of any particular description, adapted to any given head of water, can be furnished at short notice. They are also authorized to dispose of the Patent Right for the same.

DEAFNESS.
DR. McNAIR'S ACOUSTIC OIL.

THOSE DEAF FROM INFANCY often receive in a most miraculous manner their hearing when they least expect it by some trifling accident or event, which shows them how easily they might have much sooner had their hearing, and saved themselves and their friends the pain of conversing in a loud tone, without pleasure, or of being neglected and shunned to avoid that distress which is felt mutually by the deaf person and his hearers.

How sacred a duty, therefore it is that we use all necessary means to remove such affliction, and enjoy the social qualities implanted in one nature! The EAR OIL has the effect so to relieve the tension, and bring into use the natural action of the parts, as to restore the hearing when lost or impaired. For sale by G. W. LADD.

MISCELLANEOUS.

[ORIGINAL.]
Song of the "Old Guard."

TUNE—"A parcel of rogues in the nation."

Hurrah for us the tried and few,
Hurrah for wealth and riches—
Hurrah for Mordecai the Jew,
Hurrah for Marcy's breeches!

Now Hudson runs by Kinderhook,
Great Martin's seat and station;
Our President by hook or crook,
Such a parcel of rogues in the nation.

Oh, give us back the good old days
Of Swartwout, Boyd, and Harris;
And, Oh, ye Locos, shout his praise
Whose counsel ne'er miscarries.—
Sub-Treasury with specie clause,
Was Martin's own creation;
It was, no doubt, the best of laws
For a parcel of rogues in the nation.

But would, ere we had seen the day,
That day of sore disaster,
Our mortal foes, old Tip and Clay,
Had gone unto their master
Then place and power to our last hour,
We'd made this declaration,
The country's shaved, but we are saved,
Such a parcel of rogues in the nation.

Orono, Jan. 24, 1844.

Erroneous Ideas in Regard to the operation of the present high Tariff.

Owners of Factories, are in many cases the greatest sufferers, they risk thousands of dollars in manufacturing business that promises well, but immediately others and so many commence the same thing that shortly they find it a losing concern and their money sunk in the undertaking, while they paid high wages to all the laborers that were employed by them. The latter being the only ones benefited by a high Tariff because manufacturers ask no protection, if laborers will only work as low as those in Europe—All the protection goes in the pocket of the laborers. The manufacturer makes no larger profit under the protection than the European manufacturer, and carries the same on at a greater risk here than elsewhere on account of the great facility of raising competition in this country.

We complain of no market for our surplus produce; but what would be the price of the same if it was not for the work of laborers employed in our factories that now consume a good part of said surplus, and if said 100,201 of laborers in factories were also tilling the ground and would have produce to sell instead of consuming our surplus. We wish to sell instead of consuming our surplus. We wish to send our produce to England and receive their manufactures in return, but it is not of greater value to us to have those very manufacturers with us, to produce for us here, and in return not only buy our produce, but also spend all they earn in our own country.

It is nonsense to speak of oppression in factories in this free country. Every one oppressed in a factory has at once the same chance of going at something else, as if no factories existed here. You inform us because she was in want of employment and could only in one place obtain it at 25 cts per day, by which she could not subsist, and many more are in the same unfortunate situation, that could be relieved, if we encouraged a more home industry, instead of folding our arms and sending our specie to Europe for cheap goods, which in a few years we might produce much cheaper ourselves. The above are the ideas of a foreigner, but father of six native American children, one, who has been a manufacturer, a farmer and now is an importer of foreign goods.

"Mary," said one girl to another, "can you make up your mind to marry that odious Mr. Snuff?"

"Why, my dear Eliza," was the reply, "I don't know but what I might take him at a pinch."

Old Pell; Or, The Ventriloquist.

The lovers joined hands, and the minister commenced repeating the ceremony, when old Pell, who had cast his eyes towards that end of the room, discovered what was going on, and screamed out, "I forbid the banns!"

The minister stopped—"I forbid the banns!" repeated old Pell, his teeth gnashing with rage, "I have never given my consent."

"You have no consent to give," replied Mrs. Winthrop. "Will you please proceed with the ceremony, Mr. Strong. Mr. Pell, this is my niece's wedding, and in my own house; I therefore hope you will take the hint, and let us have no more of your interruptions."

"I say," replied Pell, "it is written in her father's will, that she cannot marry without my consent."

"Forgery!" cried the same supernatural voice, which Pell well recollected. It came in a hoarse, hoarse tone—no one heard it but Pell and Mrs. Winthrop. Old Pell grew pale and said no more. The ceremony was now finished without interruption, and Tim and Eliza were pronounced 'man and wife.' Then there was a titling and laughing all over the house. The students of the College, particularly, enjoyed it much.

The idea that Tim had so out-generaled Benson in his hymeneal campaign was too good, and they laughed together an hour. Benson only waited for the pronunciation of the sentence that Tim and Eliza were 'man and wife'—he then rushed out of the door, followed by his groomsmen and old Pell, and called for his hack.

As he came rushing out, the students hissed and hailed him with 'Benson, how gallant you are, running away from your bride.' His carriage was soon got ready, and in jumped Benson, groomsmen, and old Pell driving off at the rate of ten miles an hour.

After their departure, the evening passed off merrily, the good fortune of Tim, and the discomfiture of Benson and old Pell furnishing matter of conversation and laughter for the whole party. The assembly broke up at a late hour, and departed for their respective homes.

The next morning the servant announced the arrival of Mr. Pell at Farmingdale Park, accompanied by his lawyer, Mr. Ridgely. Pell directed the servant to summon Mrs. Winthrop, Tim and Eliza to the parlor. The servant departed for that purpose, and in a few minutes they entered the parlor, where Pell and Ridgely had seated themselves.

Eliza broke the silence. 'You have come early, uncle, to pay your respects to the bride. You can't tell how much I feel gratified and honored by this mark of your friendship and solicitude for my happiness.' As she said this, she bent an eye full of roguish meaning on Mrs. Winthrop and her husband.

Old Pell's wrath was up. 'I've come to tell you, madam—said he, addressing Eliza, 'that you and your husband are beggars.' By your disobedience to me you have forfeited all claim to your father's estate, which, by his will, has now become my property. You and your husband will please never show your faces at the homestead.'

Tim replied, 'If you were not an old man, I only answer to your insolence would be by swiftly banding you into the street. As it is, I have to reply, that unless you yourself immediately quit the homestead, and render up as executor the possession of my wife's estate, you will meet with trouble of which you may not be aware.'

Mr. Ridgely spoke. 'I have examined the will of your wife's father, Mr. Jocelyn, and find the condition in the will that she was only to be possessed of the property by marrying with the consent of Mr. Pell, the executor of the will. It is therefore needless for me to say, that any attempt on your part to litigate so plain a feature in the instrument, would involve you in costs, and the mortification of failure. Madam,' continued he, turning to Eliza, 'you did very wrong in being so disobedient, and yet,' he added, turning his eye on Tim's noble figure, and frank intellectual countenance, 'there seems to be abundant excuse for your conduct—ha, ha, ha!'

Tim answered, 'I entertain great respect for you, Mr. Ridgely, and regret that you have not a more worthy client. Lucky will it be for him if your services are not hereafter required to shield him from the penitentiary. I wish you both good morning!' and presenting his arm to Eliza and Mrs. Winthrop, left them abruptly in the parlor.

'The impertinent youngster!' exclaimed old Pell, 'let us go, Mr. Ridgely, and get the will proved. Mr. Sampson is the subscribing witness. I'll call upon him, and have it established this afternoon, and then I'll see who is to possess the homestead and the estate.'

FOR PRESIDENT,
HENRY CLAY,

Resources of Penobscot.

Several days since we gave several sketches from the lecture delivered by N. G. Norcross, Esq., before the Mechanic Association showing the amount of lumbering—the disposition of the proceeds in its being paid out for labor, supplies, &c., and also showing the amount of trade which it brought to this city. In speaking of the resources of the Penobscot, however, the lecturer did not stop at the lumbering operations, but mentioned several other branches of business.

The agricultural resources of this county, the lecturer remarked were greatly underrated, on account, probably, of the fact that our lumbering business eclipses all other pursuits and leads the superficial observer to conclude that we have nothing else upon which to rely. A few facts will set this matter right. The county of Penobscot is the fifth county in point of population, and the second in wheat raising. The amount of wheat returned as raised in the whole State, is 843,166 bushels, of which Penobscot county raised 112,000 bushels. Somerset is the only county that exceeds Penobscot in wheat raising, and a portion of Somerset county may be considered as embraced in the resources and interest of the Penobscot valley. It should be considered also that from the Penobscot large quantities of potatoes are exported, and this profitable branch of agriculture may be greatly increased. The farmer on the Penobscot can obtain a bushel of corn for less labor than a Virginia farmer can get a bushel of potatoes. The average returns for potatoes exported from this river have been a bushel of corn for two bushels of potatoes, or an equivalent to this in flour.

Brick making and Pottery are among the branches of business that may be successfully prosecuted by the people on the Penobscot, and in which they have engaged with good returns.

But in addition to the agricultural resources of the county, already of much practical importance, although only partially developed; and the various minor manufacturing facilities afforded by the power on the various streams, and by inexhaustible supplies of raw material, the lecturer remarked that the water power on the Penobscot, at the city mills and in Bangor, was sufficient to move all the spindles now in New England. A calculation of this power taken at the lowest pitch of water in summer, with a fall of twenty feet, and leaving out of the calculation sufficient water for running rafts, shows that there is, at one dam, at least two thousand five hundred cubic feet of water for use each second, giving 156,250 pounds for each second of time. This is only about two thirds of what could be obtained by a comparatively small expenditure in improving the channel of the river. At all times except in a drought, nearly four times this power could be made available. The water, according to the foregoing calculation, applied to a wheel 24 feet in diameter, and 625 feet long, and moving at the rate of four feet a second, would give upon it 11,250 cubic feet, or 351 tons at all times. This power would move the machinery of at least seventy of the largest size factories at Lowell, Massachusetts. This vast water power, it should be recollected, is at the head of tide water, with good navigation, and of course of much greater value than if located ten or twelve miles in the interior. Most of the water power on the tide waters in the Atlantic States is taken up; and with the increase of our population and our manufactures, this water power will by and by be made available for Iron Foundries, Woolen factories, machine shops, and for various kinds of manufacturing. And the water power of one dam alone, put in requisition for manufacturing, will give support to a population of at least 75,000 people.

Mr. Norcross went into various calculations, and brought a large amount of statistical information to bear directly upon the probable increase of the manufacturing interests of our city, and its vicinity, all which gave great force to his positions, but which we regret we have not room for here. He mentioned the fact that in the region of country that naturally and inevitably must seek Bangor for a market, and an outlet, an iron mine has been opened, and a furnace erected which will soon be in full blast. He spoke of the increased interest felt and the increased effort made in quarrying and preparing slate at Barnard, and of the great extent of country in the region in the back country of Bangor, and of its rapid improvement and settlement.

The natural resources of our section of the State, and the means of their improvement, and the certainty of their contributing to the business and population of Bangor afforded a subject of great interest to the lecturer, and to his hearers, as perhaps few men have a greater personal acquaintance with these resources, than Mr. Norcross. We have merely given a few sketches from a long, highly interesting and very able lecture. But our limits would not admit more, and we could not feel satisfied with having given less. We think Mr. N. would do good service by repeating this lecture before the Mercantile Association.

The Last Congressional Disgrace.

We learn from Washington that the proceedings consequent upon Mr. Weller's attack on Mr. Shriver, the correspondent of the Baltimore Patriot, were as follows:

Mr. Shriver availed himself of the services of Mr. Win. Cost Johnson, who bore a message to the other party. Mr. Dawson, of Louisiana, acted as the friend of Mr. Weller. It was agreed to give the challenge verbally, and in such a way as to evade the law. Mr. Weller would not accept the challenge in a direct manner, but offered to have a street fight.

Mr. Shriver assented to this, and requested the challenged party to fix the place and time. Mr. Weller refused to fix place or time. Mr. Weller next proposed that Mr. Shriver should withdraw the challenge, and receive an explanation. This was peremptorily refused. The matter is still under deliberation.

A correspondent at the East informs us that it is reported along shore that at Isle Haut, a part of Deer Isle, cast 4 votes for Robinson and 39 for Cary, which have not been reckoned in the Deer Isle vote; and that neither of the Selectmen of Deer Isle went to the Island to preside at the election as is by law required.

It is further said that there was no meeting in Swan's Island, nor Long Island Plantation. We have done figuring in this election as the run is so close that it can only be determined by the official count, and for that we must now wait.

The Augusta Age gives returns from all the towns in the Seventh District excepting three, and if these come in as before, Robinson is elected by three majority. The Age hints darkly that the Madawaska votes will not be counted. This is enough to excite suspicion, and should lead to scrupulous watchfulness.

The German population are crowding into the United States, and settling down by hundreds upon the rich lands found in various parts of the country, and no American need regret that such is the fact. They are a hardy, industrious race, from which will grow up, under our free institutions, a population worthy the home of the free. The emigrants, as they arrive in large numbers, bring with them gold enough to purchase plenty of land, at government prices, for themselves and their children. They are lovers of liberty, and come to this country to enjoy the blessings of freedom, and to secure the advantages which our free institutions hold out to the industrious, over the monarchical governments of Europe.

Singular Conflict.

An English paper contains the following account of a battle between a tame lion and a dog. A gentleman in Northallerton has had for some time in his possession, a tame lion, which has always been considered perfectly harmless. A few nights since he broke his chain, and while perambulating the town, came in contact with a ferocious bull-mastiff, the property of a late knight of the cleaver. A battle instantly commenced, when the roaring of the lion and the howling of the dog, called forth a large party of all sorts, and as customary, backers on both sides. "Well done, lion," "Hey, at him, Simple," the name of the dog. For some time the victory was doubtful, but at length, the dog by a singular manoeuvre, threw the lion on his back, and commenced a furious grasp at the poor animal's throat, and would soon have despatched him, had he not been rescued by the bystanders.

The New York Tribune states that Mr. Webster has made arrangements for taking up his residence in New York city for the practice of the law. He will remove in March, and as associates with him Joseph W. Moulton, Esq. and Edgar S. Van Winkle, Esq. members of the bar in that city—the first taking charge of the Chancery, and the second of the law practice. Mr. Webster confines himself to the duties of a counsellor and barrister. Their offices are to be on the second floor of the Exchange, above the post office.

Mercantile Association.

Capt. Sidney K. Howard delivered an elegantly written and eloquent address at the city hall last evening, before the Mercantile Association, on objects, responsibilities and benefits of the association. There was a large company in attendance, and the address was received with evident tokens of pleasure by all present.

The women in Boston say, that if certain gentlemen do not cease to expelate so freely in the concert rooms, they cannot expect to rate very highly with the ladies.

The merchants of Boston recently raised $300 in a short time, for the purpose of clearing the ice from that harbor sufficiently to admit the passage of ships.

The Waldo Signal wishes a week longer in which to accept or decline our challenge in behalf of our Bangor made engine. Take it, and a month, rather than decline. We anticipate much fun on the occasion of the trial.

The Yarmouth Register states that several persons in that town have been severely poisoned by sitting in a room where peat was burning, supposed to have in it the roots of ivy or dogwood.

A young lad by the name of Mallace, aged about 8 years, was drowned in West Prospect, lately, while amusing himself in sliding upon the ice near one of the wharves.

The Atlas has returns from all the town in the Third Congressional district but three, which give Abbot, whig, 38 majority over all others. These three towns gave 31 majority against him at the last trial.

The Cass meeting in Boston on Thursday evening was quite a demonstration, and the one term system came in for a share of notice.

We would just say to the Boston Time that Bangor is not included in the Seventh Congressional District.

THE CHRISTIAN EXAMINER AND RELIGIOUS MISCELLANY, Jan. 1844: Wm. Crosby, Boston.

The union of the Examiner and Miscellany, two works of great merit, will be hailed by the friends of both, and by the Unitarian Denomination of Christians generally as a pleasant and happy event. The work is now issued under the title at the head of this article and is edited by Rev. Doctors Alvan Samson and Ezra S. Gannett. This work now assumes the substantial character of being the great periodical work of the Unitarian Denomination; and the past character of the separate publications, and the well known ability of the Rev. Editors, and the elevated character of the articles in the present number give the strongest assurance that it will be not only highly satisfactory to that portion of christians for whom it is designed but an honor to our periodical literature. In proof of the latter position we would refer to the article "On the Signs and Prospects of the Age" and that in answer to the question "What is Christianity?" Messrs. Smith & Fenno are the Bangor Agents.

PARLEY'S CABINET LIBRARY—LIVES OF BENEFACTORS, Part II Bradbury, Soden & Co. Boston.

The excellence of this series of pleasant and useful volumes is getting to be well understood by the community. The series, when completed will make quite a library of delightful reading for the youth of our country and indeed for all who are not supplied with biographical and historical works in abundance, or who cannot find much time to devote to reading.

Messrs. Smith & Fenno are the Bangor Agents.

LADIES' COMPANION, February 1844.

This attractive monthly has made its appearance in good season, and is well filled with pleasant reading matter and has two beautiful engravings and a plate of Fashions. It is for sale at the several Book Stores in the city; and we recommend to our readers an acquaintance with its contents.

Hear the Tailor.

I saw nothing in 'Steuben's' remarks on the subject of the Militia, that a 'BANGOR HATTER' need get in such a huff about. Mr. Steuben is perfectly correct in his assertion, that the officer makes the soldier, and the tailor makes the officer. Hatters have nothing to do with the business.

A BANGOR TAILOR.

Comparative Temperatures.

The following table of comparative temperatures at Hampden between the month of January, 1843, and the same month 1844, has been furnished us by Gen Jedediah Herrick, and may be relied upon.

We would remark that the Penobscot Bay has not frozen over so early as January for the last forty years, until the present.

Mr Brooks, from the Committee to which was referred petitions for change of time, from winter to summer, of holding the sessions of the Legislature, reported

Resolves, providing for an amendment to the Constitution, in relation to the meeting of the Legislature, which

On motion of Mr Atwood, were laid on the table, and 1000 copies ordered to be printed.

Mr Otis, by leave, laid upon the table the following resolve, directing the Treasurer of State to collect certain monies due the State.

Resolved, That the Treasurer of State be directed to collect of Messrs Smith & Weston, any monies overpaid to them by mistake of the Legislature of 1841, for printing done for the State in 1840, together with lawful interest on the same from the time of its reception up to the repayment of the same. Read and assigned to to-morrow.

Adjourned.

In the House on Tuesday, Jan 30th. Resolve authorizing the Land Agent to repair Eastern Aroostook Road—was read a second time, and Friday next assigned.

Mr Jarvis of Surry offered the following. Ordered, That the Committee on the memorial of Reuel Williams, N. Emery and Wm. P. Preble, take into consideration the propriety of allowing Wm. P. Preble a compensation for his services as Commissioner under the Resolve of January 19th, 1832, to oppose the acceptance of the President of the United States, of the award of the King of the Netherlands, and report by resolve or otherwise.

This occasioned much debate.

Mr Banks of Portland, offered an amendment directing the committee to inquire whether in all probability the amount it allowed would be reimbursed by the General Government, which was adopted; and the order as amended, passed 55 to 36.

Petitions presented and referred—of heirs of the late Moses Greenleaf, for aid in the publication of a new Map of Maine.

Finally passed—Resolve in favor of Spencer G. Bowes—in favor of Mary Annas.

Adjourned.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, Jan. 27.

The Senate was not in session to-day.

In the House, Mr Wise, from the Committee on rules, made a minority report (signed by Mr Chapman and Mr W., and concurred in by Mr C. J. Ingersoll). Its only material variation from Mr Adams's, is with reference to the 21st rule—The re-adoption of this, of course, it favors; and in case of failure to do this, it recommends to the Southern members to take no part in the voting upon the questions connected, but to use their efforts at home for the convocation of a convention of members from all the States to consult and determine the extent of the powers of the Federal Government over slavery, &c.) The report was ordered printed.

The report on rules was again discussed by Mr Wright of Ia. and Mr Siles, of Georgia, before he had concluded, the morning hour expired, and the subject went over.

After some struggle as to priority of business, the House went into Committee of the Whole (Mr Gilmer in the Chair) and took up the private calendar with some promise of despatch.

Mr Evans presented in the Senate on the 22d instant, the petition of citizens of Maine employed in the coasting trade and fisheries, asking the erection of a light-house at the entrance of York harbor.

Letter from Mrs. Clarissa Ely.

LYME, (Hampburg,) Conn., July 3, 1841.

DR. WM. B. MOFFAT, Esq.—Please to add my certificate to the numerous testimonials of the extraordinary efficacy of your Life Pills and Phoenix Bitters.

I have long suffered from various diseases of the digestive functions, and for several years my mental, as well as physical energies, have been completely prostrated; no medicine seemed to reach, or at least to remove, my distressing maladies, until I had recourse to your great remedies. A few boxes of Pills and one bottle of Bitters have completely restored my mental faculties, and increased my appetite; and returning health and strength make me feel more comfortable than I have done for many years.

For which great benefits, my most grateful thanks are due to my Creator, and, next to him, to you, the inventor and dispenser of such blessings to suffering humanity.

Yours, with great respect,

CLARISSA ELY.

VALUABLE SYSTEM OF ARITH-

GREENLEAF'S Introductory Arithmetic; New Edition. Introduction to the National Arithmetic, on the Inductive System, combining the Analytic and Synthetic Methods with the Cancelling System, in which the Principles of Arithmetic are explained and illustrated in a familiar manner; designed for Common Schools throughout the United States, by Benj. Greenleaf, A. M. Principal of Bradford Teachers' Seminary, and author of the National Arithmetic; 172 pages, handsomely printed on fine paper and neatly bound, half morocco, third edition, revised, improved and stereotyped.

Greenleaf's National Arithmetic for the more advanced Scholars, forming a volume of upwards of 300 pages, handsomely printed on fine paper, and bound in leather; 13th Improved Stereotype Edition.
A Complete Key to this work furnished to Teachers only.
I have carefully examined the National Arithmetic, and am happy in being able to say, that, in my opinion, it is preferable to any other that I am acquainted with. I recollect that so highly it is esteemed, both by the Committee and myself, that it was immediately after examination introduced into my School as the text-book in that science.
Yours, very respectfully,
D. WORCESTER.
Principal of the High School for Boys, Bangor.

The above, forming a complete series, for Common Schools and Academies, are highly recommended by all School Committees and Teachers, who have given them a trial, as preferable to all others.
